Velasquez, C. (2014, November). Colorado Community Survey on Sexual and Reproductive Rights, Access, and Justice (Rep.). Washington, DC: National Latina Institute for Reproductive Health. Conducted a cross sectional survey with collaboration from the Latino Research and Policy Center at the University of Colorado, Colorado School of Public Health at the University of Colorado Anschutz Medical Campus, the Anthropology Department at the University of Colorado, Denver, Florence Crittenton Services, and Youth Tech Health and developed a report that shared the findings of the survey with the entire delegation of Colorado House Representatives and Senators. The research looked at 14 to 24 year old parenting, pregnant, and non-pregnant female and male youth. Half of the sample was Latino. This work examined attitudes and identified the prevalence of risk behaviors within this demographic.
