GWSS 590 A: Special Topics

Black Queer Sexualities

- Autumn 2020

View in MyPlan
View in Time Schedule
Meeting Time: MW 10:30am - 12:20pm
Location: THO 134
SLN: 15972
Instructor: Kemi Adeyemi

Kemi Adeyemi
View profile

Additional Details:

Black Queer Sexualities explores how intersecting ideologies of racial blackness, gender, and sexuality are historically produced and contemporarily navigated. The course tends toward close readings of black feminist philosophy, queer theory, and performance theory, but we will also be in conversation with contemporary visual and performing arts. As we engage with the theory and production of black queer sexualities, we ultimately strive to develop nuanced language for mapping the evolving politics that surround the bodies of people marked by black queerness. Students of this discussion-based course will develop final projects meant to aid in “professionalizing” them at whatever stage they are in their graduate work, including but not limited to developing literature reviews, annotated bibliographies, exam prep, conference papers, academic journal essays, and pitches to edit special issues.

Catalog Description:
Offered by visitors or resident faculty as a one-time in-depth study of special interest.
Credits: 5.0
Status: Active
Include in the set of featured courses: no
Last updated: April 28, 2020 - 4:09pm

Department of Gender, Women & Sexuality Studies
University of Washington
B110 Padelford Hall, Box 354345
Seattle, WA 98195
Phone: (206) 543-6900
Fax: (206) 685-9555
gwss@uw.edu

Source URL: https://gwss.washington.edu/courses/2020/autumn/gwss/590/a