Challenges of the Third Wave: Mobilizing Young Women to the Feminist Movements in Puerto Rico

This thesis examines the current challenges facing young women of Puerto Rico. The focus of this research is to analyze those challenges and understand why young women are slow to join feminist movements in Puerto Rico. The facts of the feminist movements in Puerto Rico are presented through the self-conducted interviews. Participants included feminists of the second and third waves and non-feminist young women of Puerto Rico. The research reveals several factors affecting young women's lives and ultimately hindering their participation in the feminist movement, and presents the strategies to help overcome the challenges and achieve a better mobilization to the feminist movements of Puerto Rico.

Status of Research or Work: Completed/published

Research Type: Graduate
* Masters Theses

Related Fields: 21st Century
* Activism
  * Caribbean
  * Feminism
  * Spanish
  * Theory/Criticism
  * Women
  * Women of Color

Department of Gender, Women & Sexuality Studies
University of Washington
B110 Padelford Hall, Box 354345
Seattle, WA 98195

Phone: (206) 543-6900
Fax: (206) 685-9555
gwss@uw.edu

Source URL: https://gwss.washington.edu/research/graduate/challenges-third-wave-mobilizing-young-women-feminist-movements-puerto-rico