Thank you for considering a gift to Gender, Women, & Sexuality Studies!

Over the past fifty years our mission has undergone significant transformations. At its most basic, our mission in GWSS is to analyze and change society – to engage in active critical praxis – from the unique perspective of unequal gender relations in a world where violence and discrimination against women is still commonplace, every day, and daunting. Born of the U.S. civil rights and women’s movements of the late 1960s, GWSS’s research and educational mission to change inequitable gender relations was, and continues to be, foundationally and inextricably linked to anti-racism and to activism.

Your kind gift will fund important study and research that allows GWSS to constantly question our objects of study so as to be true to the movements that generated us and to the promise of advancing social and economic justice.
